Calling all caregivers!

MS caregivers play an integral role in the health and wellbeing of their loved ones. They can also be instrumental in contributing their insights and experiences to MS research, including the development of new treatments, through a process called patient-focused drug development (PFDD). Our first survey for MS caregivers is now available! If you are a care partner to someone with MS, please share your thoughts about the caregiver role in PFDD through this 10-minute survey. Thank you! Not already a member of iConquerMS? Please consider joining the community with your loved one today!
