

Your Experience Could Be the Key to a Cure

Join iConquerMS:
A community to connect,
contribute, and accelerate research for multiple sclerosis (MS)

Your Experience Has Power

No one understands multiple sclerosis better than the people living with it.

That's the core belief behind Accelerated Cure Project for MS (ACP), a nonprofit founded by people living with MS for people living with MS. We created iConquerMS, our online research network, to turn that belief into action.

iConquerMS is a free, secure platform where you can partner directly with researchers, turning your lived experience into a powerful tool for discovery.

A True Partnership for Progress

Join iConquerMS to connect with 10,000+ people affected by MS while contributing to research that shapes better treatments, identifies interventions to improve quality of life, and accelerates progress toward a cure.

Membership is free and flexible—you choose what to share, which studies to join, and how much time to commit. You're always in control.

What You Get:

iConquerMS, ACP's people-powered research network, brings together people living with MS, their care partners, researchers, and others to understand MS and search for answers.

1.

CONNECTION

Join a community of people who share similar experiences, challenges, and hopes.

2.

INFORMATION

Access trusted, easy-to-understand information about the latest MS research and how it may impact your life.

3.

EMPOWERMENT

Feel a sense of agency and purpose, knowing your contribution is helping to shape the future of MS care.

What You Give:

YOUR DATA

By securely sharing your health information like symptoms, treatments, and quality of life, you help researchers see the big picture.

When combined with data from thousands of other members, your contributions help identify patterns in how treatments work and what truly impacts quality of life—guiding researchers toward faster breakthroughs.

YOUR VOICE

Your input helps researchers get it right from the start.

You can provide a crucial reality check on a new treatment idea or clinical trial, ensuring that research is designed for real people and measures the results that truly matter to you.

YOUR PERSPECTIVE

You can help guide what gets studied.

By sharing what's most important to you, you help direct scientific attention toward the research questions that will have the greatest impact on the MS community.

Your Data is Secure

All information is encrypted

You control what you share

Your identity is protected

Researchers never see your personal information

A Place for Everyone

We welcome everyone affected by MS and offer specialized groups to meet your needs:
